ENTER THE YOUNG

Here they come.

Some are walking, some are riding.

Here they come.

And some are flying, some just gliding.

Released after years of being kept in hiding, they're climbing up the ladder rung by rung.

ENTER THE YOUNG.

They've learned to think more than you think they think.

Not only learned to think but to care.

Not only learned to think but to dare.

ENTER THE YOUNG.

Here they come.

Some with questions, some decisions, and some with facts and some with visions of a place to multiply without the use of divisions.

To win a prize that no one's ever won.

Here they come.

Some are laughing, some are crying, some are doing, some are trying, some are selling, some are buying, some are living, some are dying.

But demanding recognition one by one.

ENTER THE YOUNG!

Enter the young . . . a young child entering school, a freshman in his first year of high school, or even more, a graduate facing the world on his own for the first time.

A high school education tries to prepare a student to accept the responsibilities of living in today's world. The real test, however, comes not in the final exams or the term papers, but in the way a student handles himself when faced with new experiences, new feelings, new emotions, and new people.

Some are laughing, some are crying, some are doing, some are trying, some are selling, some are buying, some are living, some are dying,

But demanding recognition one by one.

Chuck and Hugo argue over the privilege of taking Ginny to the dance.

Juniors Find That

"Seventeen Is Terrific" was presented by the junior class April 10-11. Directed by Mrs. Margaret McAdams, this three-act comedy was set in a small town prior to the annual spring dance.

Chuck wanted to take Ginny to the dance, but his financial status seemed to be standing in the way. To remedy the situation, he undertook three fund-raising projects, all of which were foiled. Complicating the situation was Chuck's competition for Ginny, Hugo Jarvis.

Confusion reigned supreme in the Allenby household. George's crush on Barbie, the love woes of Hannah and Nancy, Billy and Patsy's blackmailing service, and Janie's cheerleading fits served only to aggravate Dr. Allenby's temper.

In the end, through his efforts to get money, Chuck uncovered an old cave on his grandmother's farm. Because of its archaeological importance, the farm was bought for "big money" and Chuck was given enough to take Ginny to the spring dance.

Fate seemed to be against a 1969 Homecoming. Because of heavy rains, the first, scheduled for October 10, was postponed until the October 31 game with Garrett. Even though rain came again, the Homecoming took place, minus floats, parade, and band show.

At the post game ceremony in the elementary gym, Kris Wittig was crowned queen by her escort, Lewis King. Kris' attendants, nominated by the football team and elected by the student body, were senior Marie Coplin, junior Deb Thiel, sophomore Janet Pepple, and freshman Roxanne Turnbull.

Escorts were elected from the football team. They were senior Jim Turnbull, junior Rex Gloor, sophomore Barry Conley, and freshman George Monroe.

"Dozen" Evokes Laughter and Tears

"Cheaper by the Dozen" was presented by 16 Seniors under the direction of Mr. G.A. Taylor and assistant, Judy Bowman.

This play, taken from the best-selling novel, is set in Montclair, New Jersey, during the 1920's, by Ernestine and Frank Gilbreth.

Even though Mr. Gilbreth has a passion for efficiency and subsequently runs his family of 12 children in a very business-like manner, he is loved and respected by all.

Throughout the play, Mr. Gilbreth is confronted with such problems as his daughters' silk stockings and dating, a bossy cook, a merciless teacher, and a flea-ridden dog.

This comedy-drama came to a close just before Mr. Gilbreth died.

"Ted Muck" Hosts Evening

After their rousing entrance, the Hobo Band under the direction of Dave Finzer play their big number "Another Openin', Another Show."

Singing in perfect (?) harmony, "Zeke and Horatio," Stan Stuckey and Bert DeVeaue, begin what seems like a never-ending performance.

RIGHT: "My Hero!", exclaims Sandy Akerman as Sugar Bear Rick Hurni jumps into her arms.

Senior Talents

1970 Coronation started off with a hoot an' a holler as the Hobo Band launched the "Ted Muck's Amateur Hour." Members of the senior class displayed their talents throughout the show. A potpourri of singing, dancing, and twirling was intermingled with commercials.

The main event of the evening was the crowning of King Steve Koch and Queen Sharon Rohrs and the presentation of the court by Crown Mistress Kris Wittig and Crown Master John Handy.

The Program was followed by a dance.

"Wow! What's that after shave you're wearing?" Bill Cleland finds it extremely difficult to fight off his date Barb Cottrell.

Gayle Hitt, Marie Coplin, Joyce Beltz, and Kathy Phillips were four of the twelve senior girls who performed a dance routine to "Aquarius."

Prom Ends With Dance

Speeches Stress Importance of

Following the pattern set by last year's seniors, the Class of 1970 had both Baccalaureate and Commencement on the same day, May 24.

Baccalaureate service began with the senior processional at 1:30 p.m. followed by the invocation and music selections by the HHS chorus. The sermon "Tomorrow Is His And So Are You" was delivered by Reverend Lloyd Turnbull of the West Milford Church of Christ.

The 3:00 Commencement program contained the valedictorian and salutatorian speeches, the class address, and presentation of diplomas. Guest speaker Mr. Gordon Ward of Channel 13 presented the class address entitled "Is It Like It Is?" He elaborated on the problems and questions facing today's youth. The presentation of diplomas by Mr. Paul King preceded the recessional of the graduates.

Mr. Gordon Ward, Commencement speaker, explains his views on many of the issues facing today's youth.

Senior class members listen intently to the class address.

Ecology to Preserve Environment

Mr. Lester Latta, Superintendent, introduces the main speaker for Commencement, and congratulates the seniors on their accomplishment.

Judy Tuttle, Salutatorian, speaks on the responsibilities of youth and the relationship between the school and its students.

Giving facts on pollution, Valedictorian Kris Wittig explained what could happen to our environment.

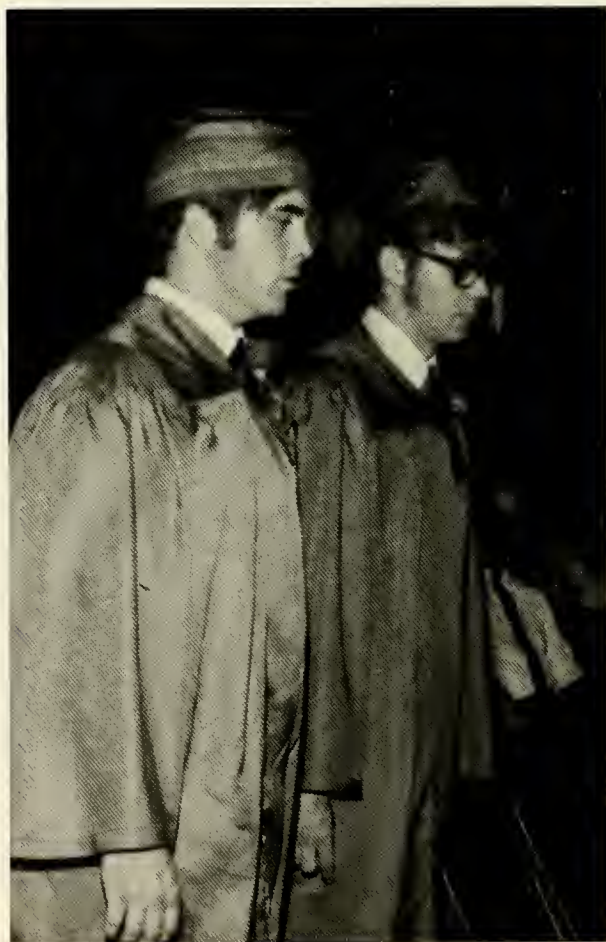

80 Seniors Receive Diplomas

With a firm handshake and big smile, Danny Beverly receives his diploma from Mr. Paul King.

Bernard Schliesser and Fred Kirby march to their places during the processional before Baccalaureate.

As Sharon Rohrs is presented with her diploma, other seniors wait to be called forward.

New Honors Enlarge Awards Program

Starting off the Senior and Awards Assembly, were speeches by Salutatorian Judy Tuttle and Valedictorian Kris Wittig. The class prophecy, read by Beth Vetter and Mary Smith followed.

In the awards portion of the program, Board of Education certificates were given to Bernie Camp, Dan Cole, Paula Richmond, Judy Tuttle, Beth Vetter, Janet Whonsetler, and Kris Wittig.

Of the 17 who placed in all-school competition in the Bowling Green district scholarship tests, five won state honors. State of Ohio certificates were awarded to Fred Kirby, 3rd in English 12, Barry Conley, 7th in World History, Jim Mullens, 14th in Biology, Mary Smith, honorable mention in Senior Social Studies, and Suzanne Meyer, honorable mention in English 10.

Scholarships were presented to Teresa Haven by BPW, Beth Vetter by the PTA, and Fred Kirby by Rotary. Local DAR and Betty Crocker competitions were both won by Kris Wittig. Other awards were given in physical education, music, sports, and journalism.

Mr. Fast presents Dave Rowan with an award, signifying Dave to have been the most outstanding math student.

Teresa Haven is awarded the BPW scholarship by Mrs. Wise.

Mr. Latta Amends School Policy

Mr. Lester Latta, Superintendent.

New to our school, but not to the position, superintendent Lester Latta began his twentieth year as a school superintendent.

He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Findlay College and his Master of Science and Educational Specialist degree from Bowling Green State University.

Mr. Latta thinks the Four County Vocational School was the greatest advancement in the curriculum of the school and certainly expanded the opportunities for our students.

His philosophy is from a quotation by Lincoln, "I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives; and so live that the place will be proud of him."

Aiding Mr. Latta with the school's policy was the school board, composed of Mr. Harold Wittig, Mr. Claron Laub, Mr. William Cleland, Mrs. Angeline Camp, and Mr. Paul King.

Mr. Cleland and Mr. Laub, serving on the board 16 and 20 years respectively, were replaced in January by Dr. Paul B. Kerr and Mr. Lloyd Turnbull.

Mrs. Martha Green, Secretary to Superintendent.

Mrs. Lura Thiel, Secretary of High School.

Mrs. Connie Hostetler, Elementary Secretary.

Mr. Harold Ringer, High School Principal.

Mr. Raymond Hook, Elementary Principal.

Grammar, Speech Improve

New literature books with modern stories highlighted the English 9 course. Selections from the book were dramatized. Paragraph writing and short composition gave opportunities for writing.

Emphasis on world literature, spelling, vocabulary, and composition made up the English 10 course. A Modern novel was read and a monthly magazine supplemented the text.

In English 9, "Juliet," Tammy King, asks, "Romeo, wherefore art thou?" as she awaits Romeo, Tim Haven.

Students in English 11 kept journals and poetry notebooks during the year. A term paper was done each semester, emphasizing use of references and footnotes. The course traced American literary production from the beginning to modern times.

In English 12, an elective for seniors, students were acquainted with English literature and shown how it was affected by the political and social history of England. A modern English novel was read besides the textbook.

All English courses required a book report every six weeks as part of school policy.

Dawn Wonderly listens as Kathy Phillips explains Milton's "Il Penseroso," a selection from the English 12 text.

hrough Practice

Speech helped juniors and seniors relax and enjoy public speaking. Skits were presented in the fall. Various types of speeches, interviews, and pantomimes were given.

Greg Headley finds that listening to records helps in understanding selections from the English 10 text.

"Could I interest you in some cosmetics?" asks Dave Wonderly, as he does his pantomime for speech class.

English II student Marlene Meek refers to a poetry book while Mike Haven helps Pat Ream write an original poem.

Latin, Spanish Study Civilizations

"Muchacha." Mary Evans and Deidre Bailey conquer a Spanish I vocabulary list.

Spanish I and Spanish II prepared students with basic knowledge of the language for future study or for limited use in a Spanish speaking environment.

Elementary Spanish grammar was practiced in Spanish I. Spanish II reviewed this for a deeper involvement of the language.

Oral Spanish preceded textbook material. Students gave their own conversations at the end of a lesson.

Latin I centered around grammar, vocabulary study and glimpses of Roman life. Use of the language in today's vocabulary was shown.

To show how much fun and interesting a "dead" language can be, the Latin II year consisted of more translation and information on Roman civilization. Mythology was read as well. Latin I and Latin II students made notebooks as projects.

Both Latin and Spanish courses paid particular attention to present and past customs and conditions in the land of their language.

5 Math Courses at HHS

"The most important thing in working an Algebra problem is being systematic," Brad Smith explains to Stan Rowan and Cindy Etchey.

Beth Vetter and Pam Giffhorn seem to know all the "angles" in working their Geometry assignment.

Gary Rohrs finds a meter stick is helpful in solving general math problems.

Multiply Students' Talents

General Math provided a simplified approach in learning arithmetic. The course's main purpose was to instill in students an appreciation of arithmetic's role in everyday life.

Algebra courses developed the concept of equations in solving problems and set up a basis for progressions into other subjects. New texts presented both contemporary and traditional ideas about the subject.

In Geometry students formalized statements to prove the relationship between points, lines, and planes in space. Films were used to illustrate the associations.

Trigonometry showed how indirect measurements are encountered. An understanding of the trigonometric relation of acute and general angles was cultivated.

These math courses gave HHS students an opportunity for a broad cross-section of mathematical knowledge.

Dan Cole and Judy Tuttle learn how to use a new apparatus in Trigonometry.

Ron Tuttle and Paula Whonsetler find a slide ruler to be a shortcut in working long Algebra II problems.

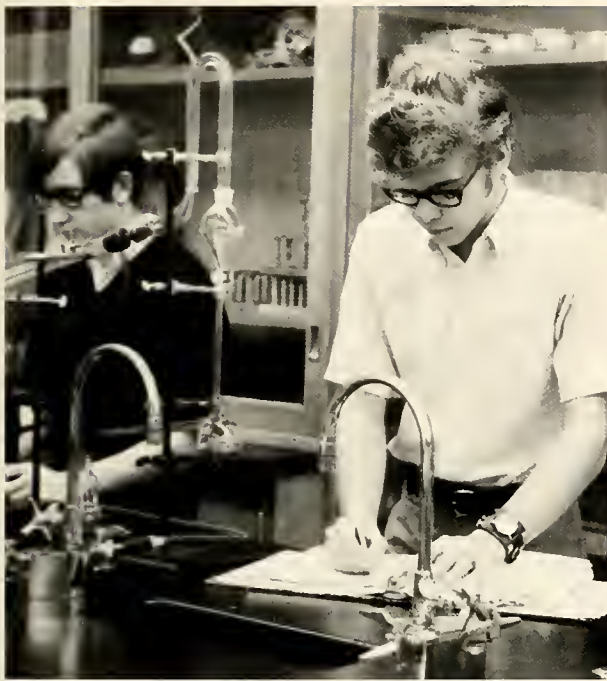

As a part of chemistry, Deb Fritz and Lenny Guilford construct atomic models to show composition of various molecules.

Scientists Unravel Phenomena of Nature

Physics students Bernie Camp and Carl Sabo learn the mechanics of an absolute zero apparatus from Greg Smith.

Rick Hurni centrifuges a solution while Fred Kirby records the results of a biochemistry experiment in his notebook.

Learning about the moon was a part of the General Science course. John Smith points out a recent moon landing site to Virginia Timbrook.

In General Science students studied the what, the how, and the why of scientific phenomena. Students were able to go on a field trip sponsored by the County Agricultural Office.

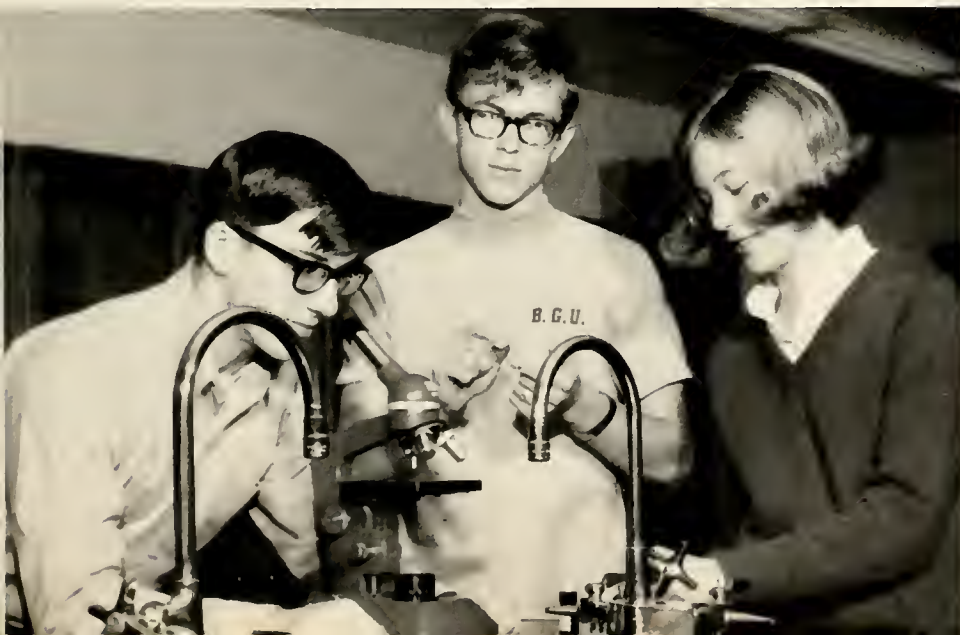

Biology involved all levels of life, the human body, and heredity. The year's lab work consisted of the microscopic study of protozoa and bacteria, dissection of pigs, and the use of planaria to study regenerations.

Chemistry students probed into the complex world of atoms, also becoming proficient with the slide rule. They applied knowledge gained in class to practical situations during labs.

Bio-chemistry was an elective for seniors interested in various areas of biology and chemistry. Students developed their own projects to further their knowledge. The course was mainly laboratory work.

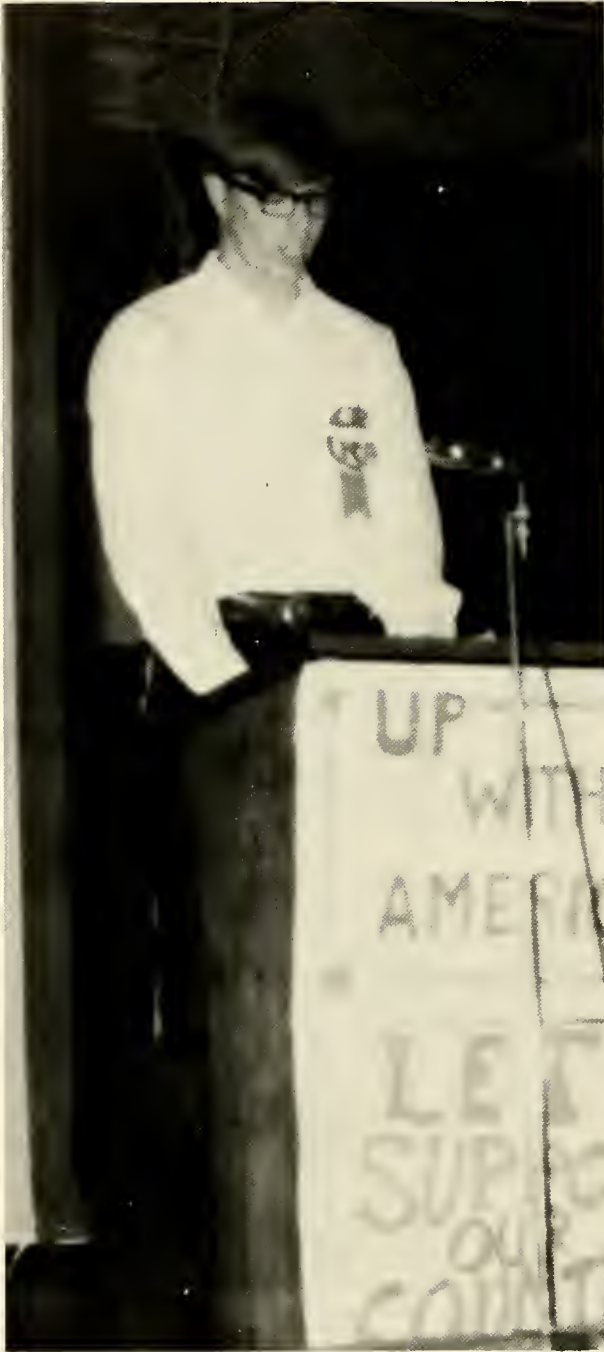

Students worked on animals respiration, frog heart contractions, chick embryo injections, pH meter operation, and various other experiments.

Physics allowed students to understand the physical world around them. Principles of heat, light, electricity, relativity, mechanics, and sound were stressed. Physics and bio-chemistry participated in an ice cream freeze in the middle of the year.

Barry Conley focuses the microscope as Joe Beck and Diane Husted prepare a blood sample for examination.

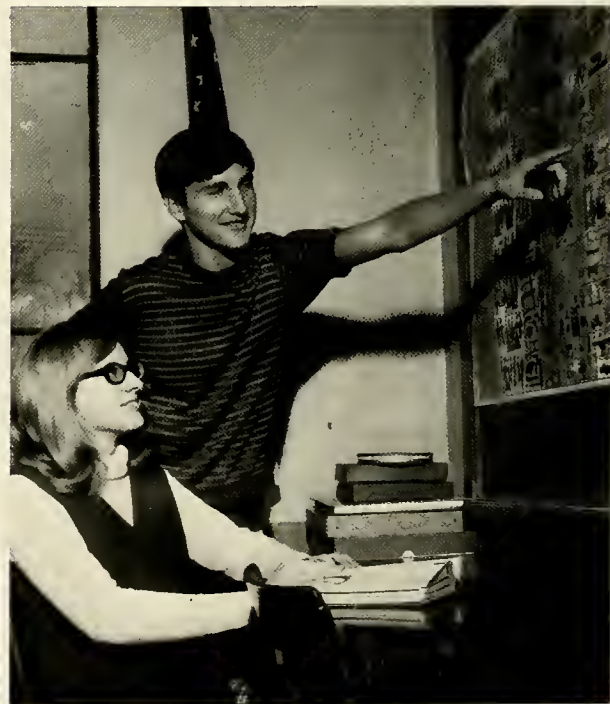

Social Studies Stimulate Patriotism;

Wayne Heffelfinger delivers his speech about patriotism for the seniors' "Love America Day."

Attractive bulletin boards add interest. Cheryl Harter and Mike Adcock work on an American History bulletin board.

Bruce Guilford explains a chart of relics of ancient civilizations to Suzanne Meyer in World History.

Increase Understanding of the World

Four social studies courses offered at HHS kept students in tune with the present, with an eye on the past. American History, Government, and World History were required. An elective, Geography investigated the trading world's reflection on world commerce and climate's effect on mankind. Emphasized were places, time, space, and resources.

World History, geography in motion, studied cultures spanning 50,000 years, ending with the present day Cold War. Films supplemented the text.

Analyzing U.S. History from the pre-Jamestown era to today, American History class paid particular attention to the Civil War. Government courses related American History to the principles which made our country so great. Local, state, and federal governments were compared to each other as well as other forms of government. Combined government classes put together a patriotic assembly and presented it to the school November 11. Representative to the state legislature, Fred B. Hadley talked to the classes.

Globes are useful in Geography. Steve Kees locates a portion of Asia as Pam Payton looks on.

Approvingly, Evelyn Yoder and Sharon Rohrs skim through the plans for the seniors' "Love America Day."

New Teachers

For most people balancing books is a headache, but not for bookkeeping wizards, Jo Kaduk, Cathy Tucker, and Tom Wolford.

Deb Thiel and Allen Schooley apply principle to problem in clerical records.

General business students received a background of knowledge of the business world in relation to banking, buying, selling, investing, and insurance.

First-year typing students developed the ability to operate and maintain the typewriter efficiently. Typing II pupils improved speed, accuracy, production, and the quality of their work.

After learning the principles of Shorthand I, students concentrated on obtaining speed with stress on spelling and punctuation. Shorthand II pupils worked on advancing their speed and in obtaining mailable letters.

Stenocript, shorthand using letters of the alphabet instead of symbols, was offered the first semester of this year. Personal typing, offered second semester, enabled students to gain basic knowledge of the typewriter.

During the first semester, bookkeeping students learned the principles of bookkeeping and worked on various problems involving these principles. Practice sets supplemented the course.

Clerical records covered a variety of business procedures and business forms. Students kept cashier's records, checkbooks, bank statements, sales slips, receipts and payments forms, purchase orders, and payroll records.

Office practice provided the "feel" of an office, the work done in it, and its purpose in the business world. Girls were on a rotation schedule which acquainted them with advanced typing, filing and business machines. The girls also gained some practical experience by doing work for teachers.

Mike Blasing dictates to Jane Barkman in steno.

Office practice girls learn many office skills. Marilyn Miller and Sandy West make use of the adding machines.

Minda McCormack demonstrates her speed in shorthand to Deb Handy and Dolly Smith.

Business, Music, Minds Fascinate Many

Business law acquainted students with contracts, legal responsibilities of the buyer and seller, and laws pertaining to this. Students learned how to avoid complications and solve problems. Practical cases were worked out.

Consumer Economics encouraged wise buying and thrift. Management of family budget investments and savings, and government spending were explored.

Rhythm, melody, harmony, and instruments and their constructions were studied in music history. Students listened to recordings of ancient music, opera, symphonies, and modern music. In addition to new books a supplementary test was used.

Psychology aided students in obtaining a better understanding of their problems. As individuals, students were encouraged to guide their own lives and fulfill their potentials.

The main objectives of sociology were introducing students to the science and art of human relations, building upon knowledge acquired in other social sciences, and gaining knowledge of social problems. Correlations were made between sociology and other social sciences.

Listening to records comprises a major part of music history. Wayne Heffelfinger, Brenda Dowell, and Diane Cole examine some material useful in class.

Belinda Weber deciphers a cryptogram for psychology class.

Business Law students, Ernie Hurni and Bev Worden, learn the facts about stocks and bonds.

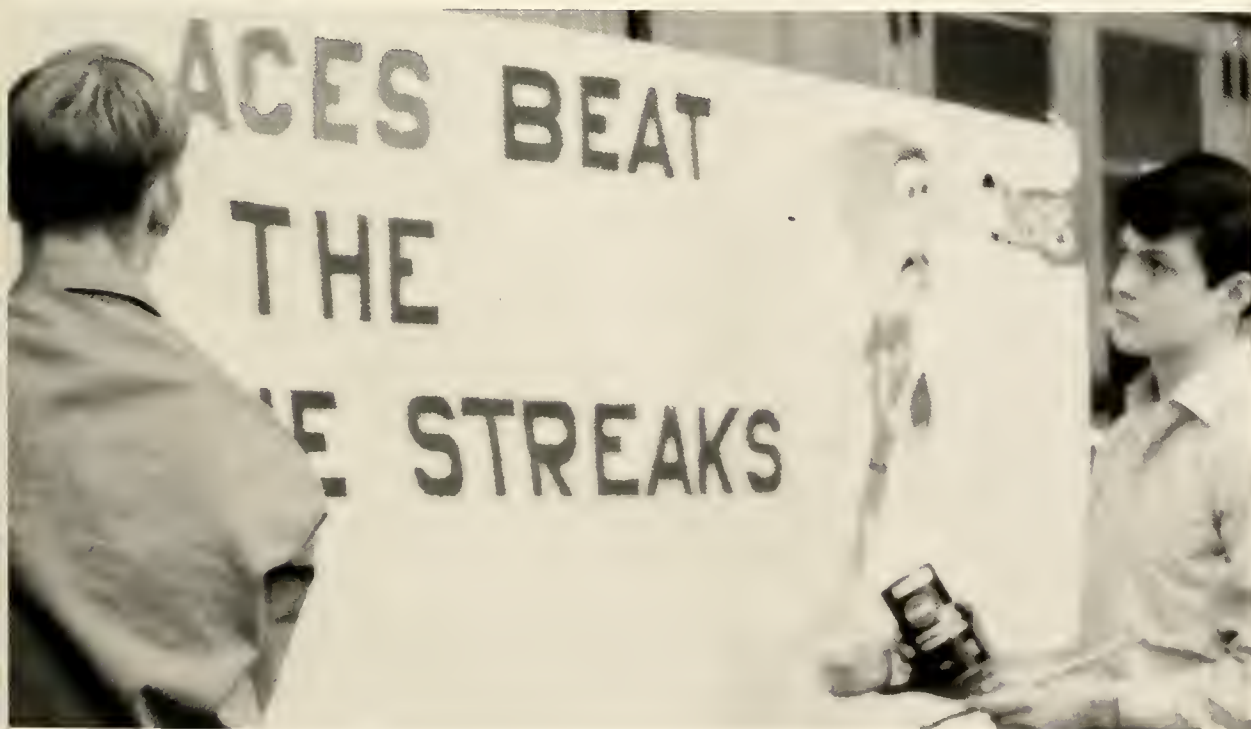

Art Department Increases by Almost 100%

The Art department has grown in number by almost 100 per cent in one year. First year art students studied fundamentals of design, color and composition. Their work consisted of such things as color and design exercises in tempera, black and white landscape drawing, and commercial design, and lettering with spray.

Students enjoyed working with water color, oil painting, sculpture, ceramic pottery, and jewelry. In second year art, new medias and ideas were encouraged. Course projects were much more comprehensive and less elementary. Highlighting the year were two art exhibitions.

Home Ec., Industrial Arts Provide

Barb Schlosser prepares a cabbage for chemical analysis in Home Economics III.

Basics in grooming, nutrition, housekeeping, and sewing were taught in the first year of home economics. Girls were required to construct two simple garments.

Home Economics II centered around the family unit and included cooking complete dinners and further care of the house. Personal development and work with pre-school children rounded out the year.

New texts and activity books for Home Economics III introduced the scientific principles behind cooking. This advanced course also dealt with foreign foods and complete clothing ensembles.

As it was with home economics for eighth grade girls, eighth grade boys were required to have one credit of industrial arts. Additional courses were electives.

Using new sanding equipment, Dave Finzer and Dan Briskey finish a table top they have made in industrial arts.

Basic Skills for Future Life

In Industrial Arts I knowledge of construction was put to practical use in wood. Drawings preceded such projects as birdhouses and tool boxes. After completion of a required project, boys were given alternatives in individual projects.

Both Industrial Arts II and III advanced boys from the basic to more difficult undertakings in wood, electricity, and welding.

Offering an opportunity for more extended individual projects, the fourth year of industrial arts was involved in such fields as automotives, woodwork, metalwork, and electronics.

New equipment was employed in all courses.

Home Economics students, Carla Green, Janet Hewitt, and Harriet Bell, learn that fitting the pattern to the person saves work later.

Industrial Arts students Doug Phillips and Bruce Hart check over plans before beginning their project.

Strong Bodies Work

Paula Bice and Cathy Wonderly post information concerning drugs on the health room bulletin board.

Three credits of high school health and physical education were required. Students participated in a diversified program using equipment such as the spring board, trampoline, parallel bars, and bar bells. Boys' phys ed involved tumbling, gymnastics, and participation in the president's Physical Fitness Program, while girls enjoyed archery, volleyball, speed ball, basketball, tumbling, gymnastics, and dancing. Both girls' and boys' classes took part in track activities in the spring and intramural competition in sports.

Marian Schliesser and Jan Briggs find that teamwork is helpful in performing on the balance beam.

Best With Alert Minds

Drivers' training was broken down into five areas: the mental activity of the driver, outside factors controlling driving, fundamentals of operating the automobile, defensive driving situations, and responsibilities of owning a car. In-class study entailed such things as identification of signs and gaining knowledge of rules. Driving itself gave practical experience in handling traffic situations.

Students Volunteer Time

Volunteers, Marilyn Miller and Marlene Meek, check a list of patients.

Red Cross Volunteers were organized in August to serve the Hicksville Hospital and Fountain Manor Rest Home. Among the Volunteers' duties were serving meals, feeding and walking patients, passing water, and running errands. The organization helped at the blood bank, the TB center, fund drives, and other activities.

Officers for the year were Gayle Hitt, president; Deb Thiel, vice-president; Jan Briggs, secretary; and Mike Miller, treasurer.

Seven girls helped Mrs. Thiel in the office, each working one period a day. Among the jobs performed were running errands, answering the telephone, recording absentees, and other office work.

Student librarians worked in the library each period shelving the many new books received. They also assisted other students in finding magazines and resource materials.

ing for a "superior" status. This allowed the group to travel to Springfield April 25 to compete in state contests.

At the awards assembly, out-going four year band members were presented with trophies.

Bands Add Variety to Sports Events

The 76 member marching band served the community through participation in sporting events, raising spirit of the student body, and providing general entertainment through music.

Rain plagued most of the band's performances, cancelling out all but two home performances and a proposed show at Defiance College. The parade band, however, captured a third place at Defiance's Homecoming.

Drum Major, Mike Adcock, led the marching band, through parades and football shows, as well as directing pep band.

By performing drill routines to music, the marching band added spirit to football games.

Majorettes were De De Bailey, Jan Briggs, Jill Bailey, Cindy McDonald, and Deb Bergman.

Head Majorette Teresa Haven was responsible for working up routines for halftime shows.

Senior High Chorus Rates Excellent at District Contests

The senior high school chorus under the direction of Mr. Keith Payne, participated in the high school Christmas program, as well as in concerts and contests.

The group entered in district competition at Toledo where an "excellent" rating of 11 was earned. Many solo and ensemble groups which evolved from the chorus, competed in the district solo and ensemble contests at Bowling Green State University.

HHS Musicians, Singers Display Abilities

Beth Cook, Lianna Quick, and Diane Cole discuss the intricacies of their camera, before leaving the hotel for a block party.

District judges awarded Bert DeVeau with a superior rating for his contra-bass clarinet solo.

in Musical Contests

"So This Is Paris," a two act musical comedy, was presented by high school students March 6 and 7. This operetta, directed by Mr. Keith Payne, revolved around six American girls seeking romance in Paris. They organize a block party to finance an operation for a crippled French girl. Resulting publicity makes the party a success and donations pour in from all over the world.

HHS students of the music department traveled to Bowling Green State University for solo and ensemble contests. Bert DeVeau, Minda McCormack, and Marie Woodring received superior ratings for their performances.

Minda McCormack's piano solo brought her a 1 in district competition.

many important duties of managers Dave Myers and Bill Keeley.

Hicksville Aces won the Northwest Buckeye League championship for the fifth consecutive time in mounting a 3-0-1 league record. The Aces opened their bid for the title with a strong showing in defeating the Crestview Knights, first year members of the league, by a 28-8 score. In a sea of rain and mud, the Fairview Apaches tried valiantly to put an end to the Aces' dynasty by hanging on to tie the Aces 28-28. The next week, the Aces were not to be denied the league crown as a vicious defense whipped the Edon Bombers by a 12-0 count. In the game for all the marbles, Hicksville traveled to Payne to battle the Panthers, and walked away victorious, with a hard fought win by a score of 38-32.

With the aid of assistants Jerry Balser, Bill Metz, George Cherry, Walter Durham, and James Brzuchalski, Coach Al Bellisari was able to claim his fourth NWBL title.

Aces Battle the Elements and Eight seniors played the final game of their high school careers against a team of highly touted and undefeated group of Garrett Railroaders. The Aces put on a strong showing only to be defeated by a 14-0 score. Seniors who played their final game were Lew King, Steve Koch, Dan Briskey, Rick Hurni, Jim Turnbull, Bernie Schliesser, Bill Flanary, and Jeff Green. These eight, along with the capable assistance of promising underclassmen compiled a record of 4-3-1.

'Wait Till Next Year'

The 1969-70 edition of the Hicksville Aces although displaying a dismal 2-17 record have a bright outlook for the future as Coach Keith Dewese brings back five returning lettermen led by second leading scorer Rex Gloor. Senior Jim Turnbull was the leading scorer for the Aces as he garnered 249 points in 17 games for a 15 point average. Gloor was close behind with 235 markers in 19 games for a 12 point average.

The Aces beat arch-rival Antwerp early in the year only to have that loss avenged in tournament play. Senior John Handy paved the way for the Aces' victory over the Archers by pouring in 23 points in the 48-39 victory.

Friday, February the 13th, turned out to be a lucky day for the Aces as they trimmed the rugged Blue Creek Comets by a 61-60 count to notch their second win of the year and their first in Green Meadows Conference play. Senior Jim Turnbull led the way for the Aces with 19 points.

Sessions Boost Spirit

Twenty-three cheerleaders ranging from Junior High Reserve through the Senior Varsity were the chief instigators of HHS spirit during the 1969-70 school year. Carefully planned pep sessions, which contained skits, cheers, chants, and pom pom routines, played a major role in helping to boost enthusiasm before games.

The Varsity, Reserve, and Freshman squads attended various clinics during the summer at Syracuse, Indiana, University of Toledo, and Bowling Green State University.

The cheerleaders are coached and directed by Mrs. Jean Siler.

Trackmen Shatter

Bernie Camp pushes on towards the end of the 2 mile in which he set the school record of 10.59 minutes.

Phil Repp practices to maintain the speed with which he broke a school record of 53.7 seconds for the 440 yard dash.

Aces track team headed by Coach Al Bellisari ended a good, although not outstanding season, by finishing fifth at the Green Meadows Conference Meet. This year, however, surpassed many other seasons with record breaking feats of running and jumping. Phil Repp, Rich Lyons, Bernie Camp, and Ted Collins all broke records set by trackmen in previous years. The mile relay team composed of Dan Cole, Mike Hagerty, Rich Lyons, and Phil Repp also broke the school record with 3 minutes 46.7 seconds.

Voted most valuable player by his fellow teammates, junior Rich Lyons ended the season as high point man on Hicksville's team.

Coach Hootman congratulates Bernie Camp, who placed first for Hicksville in all but one meet.

Aces Dash Their Way to a New Record

HHS cross country team under the direction of Coach Robert Hootman compiled a $15\frac{1}{2}$ - $8\frac{1}{2}$ record in league meets.

The Aces tied for second in the Green Meadows

Conference meet as Dan Cole set a new school record of 11:40 for the two mile run. Cole's mark of 11:40 was the fifth best time in the area.

FIRST ROW: Dan Cole, Bruce Hart, Terry Gloor, Rick Sabo, Terry Schooley, Wayne Heffelfinger. SECOND ROW:

Team and Rookie Coach Face

1970 edition of the HHS baseball team under the direction of first year coach Walter Durham compiled a 12-11 winning slate.

The team finished third in the Buckeye Border Conference (BBC). Steve Koch was selected to this all-conference team. They also were second in the Green Meadows Conference. Steve Koch and Jim Turnbull were selected to the GMC all star squad.

Steve Koch was the leading pitcher on the squad with a .094 earned run average and struck out 115 in 70 innings. Jim Turnbull was the leading hitter with a .374 average. Turnbull also led in runs-batted-in with 16 for the year. Speedsters Lew King and Dan Briskey tied for the stolen bases lead with each pilfering 17 sacks for the season.

The 1970 HIXONIAN staff would like to thank everyone who helped to make this publication possible. We are especially grateful for the cooperation and assistance of advisor Mr. John Boesling, Mr. Jerry Barber and Taylor Publishing Company, Mr. Bob Abraham and Powell Studios, the Defiance Crescent, and teachers, administration, and students of HHS. Special thanks is extended to the Hicksville merchants who advertised in the 1970 HIXONIAN.
